

Drug, Device & Vaccine Development ♦ GLP & non-GLP Services ♦ Vivarium Services

POSITION SEARCH Laboratory Technician

The Company

Noble Life Sciences (Woodbine, MD) is a contract research organization (CRO) providing services in the fields of preclinical drug, vaccine and medical device development and testing. Services offered range from early product discovery to GLP-compliant studies for regulatory submissions.

The company offers integrated preclinical drug development services including cellular and animal disease model design and development, non-GLP and GLP efficacy, toxicity, biodistribution, and product release studies in broad range of animal species.

The Position

The Laboratory Technician – is a key position within the organization with significant prospects for career growth as the company continues to increase the breadth and scope of its business. This position reports directly to the Study Coordinator.

Responsibilities include but are not limited to:

- Perform duties in accordance with relevant study protocols and the Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs).
- Prepare samples for testing using various laboratory equipment.
- Print labels, and label sample collection tubes, and other laboratory reagents
- Maintain the laboratories in a clean and organized manner.
- Assist study directors in processing various blood and tissue samples.
- Assist scientist in various laboratory assays/procedures as appropriate.
- Work effectively as a team member
- Perform miscellaneous duties as assigned.
- Performs other duties as assigned.

Qualifications & Specifications

- High School diploma or GED required.
- Entry level, no prior experience required.

Noble Life Sciences is an equal opportunity employer and offers professional development opportunities and comprehensive benefits package.

Interested candidates can send their resume & cover letter to careers@noblifelisci.com